editor, founder of the Fascist, and new premier of Italy—a man noted for his blunt speech and rigid discipline in public affairs—figured in the civil ceremony. In his capacity as notary of the crown, the premier conducted the civil rite. During this ceremony Yolanda, who might have been a reigning queen except for the sacking of Rome, renounced all her royal rights, including that of succession to the throne, her title of princess and the qualification of royal highness.

In connection with the civil ceremony, Premier Mussolini was offered the Collar of the Annunziata which entitled him to be known as "cousin of the king," but he refused it. This honor was then conferred upon President Tittoni of the Senate.

Among those present at the civil ceremony were King Victor Emmanuel, Queen Elena, the parents of the groom; Princess Anna, sister of the groom; Marchioness Della Valle, aunt of the bride and lady-in-waiting to Queen Elena; the brothers and sisters of the bride, President Tittoni, the crown registrar, the army and navy officers, members of the diplomatic corps; members of parliament; members of the royal household; the dowager Queen Margaret, Duke and Duchess of Aosta, Duke and Duchess of Genova, Count of Turin, Duke of Poggio, Duke of Bergamo, Prince of Udine, Duke of Ancona and others.

Immediately after the civil ceremony, the principals and guests

Belgium Ejected By Teutons Want Ten Francs Daily

BRUSSELS, April 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—King Albert has agreed to support the demand made by Belgians deported into Germany during the war for an indemnity of ten francs for each day of their deportation.

The king made this promise to a delegation after a demonstration by 50,000 who had been forcibly ejected from their country. They protested against the present allowance of fifty francs for each month of their internment in Germany.

The delegation reminded the king that 4000 of the 120,000 deported citizens died in Germany as the result of privation, disease and bad treatment.

The king's promise was made in the royal hall of the Quinault, which is only next door.

On the right of the altar a royal tribune, decorated with red and white, had been erected for the king and queen and the royal family.

As the procession entered the chapel the choir intoned a Gregorian chant. Five Catholic prelates, four of them attached to the court, and four military chaplains who had been decorated for their war services occupied the tribune and guests.

The princess knelt throughout the religious ceremony, which was performed by a soft-speaking Belgian priest, Monsignor Boccardi, the royal chaplain, and who had baptized Yolanda nearly 23 years ago.

With all the tenderness of a father, the monsignor exclaimed at the end of the ceremony.

"My child may all the blessings of heaven rest upon this happy union."

The monsignor blessed the couple in the name of the pope.

Throughout the nuptial mass King Victor Emmanuel and the royal princes remained standing.

As the prelate chanted the service wonderful music, played in such a low key that it came in droning accents as though from a great distance, no one could miss it.

Two little war orphans acted as the bride's train bearers. The church was decorated with red and white.

Peccia handed the wedding ring, which he had blessed, to the groom to slip upon his bride's finger. The religious ritual did not provide for interrogation of the bride and groom. That had taken place in the civil ceremony.

Signor Tittoni, after reading the customary formula from the civil code, had turned to Count di Borgogno asking:

"Are you satisfied to take the Princess Yolanda of the house of Savoy for your wife?"

"Yes," replied the count in a loud voice.

The princess were interviewed as well as the principals.

After a wedding breakfast the couple left on their honeymoon, which will be spent near Pisa.

Later the couple will live north in their honeymoon.

The princess will turn housewife and conduct her own home, just like any woman in the lower ranks of society.

...went to Europe. His career in the West was stormy. He resigned from the Peace Commission was forced to resign as pastor of the church and also as president of the church federation.

His resignation followed a newspaper controversy following his announcement during the course of a sermon on "Jesus Christ as Preached by the Liberal School of Modern Theology," that he doubted the marvelous birth of Christ.

Following the termination of his pastoral duties he went to Seattle and later back east.

Trior to coming west Dr. Aked occupied the pastorate of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church in New York City for four years. He is an Episcopalian by birth and has been in the ministry since 1896.

For seventeen years he was pastor of the famous Pemroke Mission at Liverpool.

At the same time as Dr. Aked was speaking in Washington yesterday, Dr. Irving Fisher, a member of the executive committee of the League of Nations Non-partisan Association was telling a large congregation at the Foundry Methodist Episcopal Church that it was "the Christian duty" of the United States to affiliate with the league and that such affiliation could only be accomplished through the churches.

There was no demonstration at Dr. Fisher's sermon.

Three Killed in Two Irish Battles

DUBLIN, April 9.—(By International News Service.)—Two republicans were killed and four Irish soldiers were wounded in a fight near Blandford today. One Free State soldier was wounded when irregulars bombed Glentworth station.

Detonations in Dublin arrested a Free State captain and twelve of his followers. They located a large secret supply of munitions. The Free State made public captured documents showing that irregular leaders in March exchanged views over resistance. The general opinion of the southern Irish was that it would be impossible to carry on the fight through another summer.

$450,000 BUDGET RAISE FORECAST BY LEGISLATORS

Governor's Special Message On Chances Due At the Capitol Today.

SACRAMENTO, April 9.—(By United Press).—The legislature today anxiously awaited Governor Richardson's special message recommending changes in the new revenue budget, which is expected for late this afternoon.

Taking the governor's recent statement indicating an increase of approximately $450,000 would be made in the budget, as a basis, everyone was speculating as to where the additional money was to go.

At the same time there was equal interest in what items were to be reduced, because of the certainty that heavy cuts were scheduled.

TOTAL UNDER $79,500,000. It was known on good authority that the total will be slightly less than $79,500,000 when the revisions are made.

It was considered practically certain that increases would be made in the items for the civil service, State Board of Health, Industrial Welfare Commission, Whitaker and Prescott reform schools, the School for the Deaf and Blind and probably a few others.

It was rumored that the teachers' colleges or some of them would receive additional amounts and that the State Fish and Game Commission would face similarly.

CUTS KEPT SECRET. Specific cuts formed a closely guarded secret. Many sources made guesses and it seemed that the majority believed the principal reductions would come in the department of finance, the department of education, the harbor commission and smaller cuts in other appropriations.

It was freely predicted that the appropriation for the Sonoma Industrial Home for Women, which was recently burned, would be discontinued.

Berkeley Robberies
Reported to Police
BERKELEY, April 9.—With jewelry valued at $500 stolen over the week-end, the Berkeley police are investigating two burglaries and one attempted burglary in various parts of the city.

At the home of Irving Inge, 1115 Fresno street, $400 worth of jewelry was taken, the house being entered by climbing a rear window. After ransacking the residence of H. H. Inge, 2240 California street, between 11 o'clock yesterday morning and 2:30 o'clock last night, a burglar crudely covered up two $5 bills and bag containing $10 in a bureau drawer. Jewelry valued at $65 also was taken.

An attempt was made during the night to enter the Wood-brook bakery, Telegraph and Durant avenues. G. L. Bugh, proprietor, found that the front door had been tampered with when he proceeded to open the place this morning.

Railroader Found Dead; Fear Murder
LOS ANGELES, April 9.—The mutilated body of a man believed to be Miguel Cortez, member of a union crew of the Santa Fe railroad, was found here today in a box car in the company's yards.

A bloodstained air hose coiled around the body, led the police to believe that the man had been beaten and robbed. Partial identification was made by fellow employees, who said Cortez came here recently from Los Vegas, N. M.

DRY LAW LEFT DESIRED.
ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands, April 9.—(By the Associated Press).—Modifications of prohibition laws in the Virgin Islands so as to permit manufacture of rum for export purposes only was advocated by members of the municipal council of St. Thomas and St. Croix at a government house hearing before Secretary Denby and his congressional party, stopping here on their home from the West Indies.

Reapportionment Fight Looms in Legislature

By E. VAN LIER RIBBINK

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, April 9.—The legislature this week commenced one of its most crowded and busiest sessions, and speedy headway is expected in the disposal of the large number of measures that are now clogging the wheels of progress in the Senate and Assembly.

Two different reapportionment measures will come up this week, and this is where the big fight is to take place. Tomorrow morning, the Stevens-Clearly reapportionment bill comes before the Assembly. This act is recognized as a "cow county" measure in that it would give the control of the Assembly into the hands of the representatives of the agricultural districts, since it would entitle Los Angeles, San Francisco and Alameda counties to but ten assemblymen each. The Stevens-Clearly bill leaves the districting of the state, as far as the Senate is concerned, undisturbed. This measure is not expected to get very far.

Thursday, according to notice given by Assemblyman Frank E. Ward, chairman of the reapportionment committee, the real reapportionment bill, which Los Angeles seeks six additional assemblymen and two more senators will come up in the Assembly. This is Assemblyman Ed. Baker's bill. The introduction of the measure will precipitate a merry row, delegations from the north of the Tehachas and from the south will probably extol the particular merits of their particular sections. The southerners will ask representation on the basis of population, and the agricultural and mining interests will ask: "What about our resources—are we not entitled to representation on that score?"

Yet the upshot of it all will be, according to present indications, that the reapportionment will be voted down, and that it will have to await the action of future legislatures, or may be placed on the ballot as a referendum.

Today the governor will send his budget amendments to both houses, which will refer them to the Senate Finance Committee and to the Assembly Committee on Ways and Means. The amendments provide for a slight raise in various appropriations, not totaling, however, more than $100,000, which is a mere drop in the bucket in a $79,500,000 budget.

Mrs. Anna L. Saylor's bill, which seeks a three-cent car fare for school children in Oakland and Alameda, comes up for a vote in the Assembly.

committee this week, probably Thursday evening. Senator Tom West of Alameda will introduce tonight, at the meeting of the senate judiciary committee, an amendment referring to sanitary districts, and providing for the reorganization of such districts in the state. One of these districts takes in Oakland. According to Senator West his bill will clearly various Supreme Court decisions, and will make it easier for sanitary districts to sell bonds. Senator West expects City Attorney Leon Gray and other legal talent from the Eastbay will be present at the meeting.

Another amendment by Senator West will be introduced at the labor and capital committee. This is an administration measure, and is intended to abolish the so-called "continuing appropriation" of the Industrial Welfare Commission. The amount, about $20,000, is to be placed in the budget, Senator West said, and the needs of the commission will thereafter be solely defrayed out of the budget, and not from additional revenues from continuing appropriation.

There is quite a storm in the political offing over the bill of Senator Charles Lyon of San Francisco, which would take over all automobile lines and forfeitures to the cities, to be used for any purpose whatsoever. This is in opposition to the amendment to the motor vehicle bill of Senator Reed, as suggested by City Attorney Leon Gray, of Oakland, and which would take these funds to the cities, provided the money is used for street work. One of the opponents of Senator Lyon's measure, deney Leon Gray, of Oakland, and which would take these funds to the cities, provided the money is used for street work. One of the opponents of Senator Lyon's measure, de-makes "a nice annual income of $50,000 from fine tourist automobiles, and that this sum is used for the general city government."

I. A. AUTO FINES REVENUE.
From the same source I am informed that the fines and forfeitures, levied by the city of Los Angeles on tourist automobiles, amount to about $1,000,000, and that this sum is likewise used, not for street work, but for the general purposes of that city. Thus, it is common, is being done notwithstanding the law requires that these funds be handed over to the county.

The matter of reconsideration of the bill providing a change of procedure in juries, and requiring that, in civil cases, the judge shall charge the jury on the law and the facts before final argument, also comes up this week. Reconsideration has been asked by Assemblyman William Hornblower of San Francisco.

FIREBOMB IGNITES

HAWAII BARRACKS

HONOLULU, T. H., April 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—Military police are searching for two civilians who were seen running from the quartermaster's building at Seaside Barracks here during a fire there yesterday, which is believed to have been of incendiary origin. The fire was extinguished with great difficulty. It is the belief of military authorities that the building was fired in an effort to destroy records. The conflagration was

AVERAGE WOMAN SITS 21 MONTHS BEFORE MIRROR

CHICAGO, April 9.—A woman spends about a year and nine months of her life to be beautiful, according to a report of the Northwestern University T. W. C. A. today.

The report said that co-eds spend about 45 minutes daily "priming." Figuring that the average girl starts "priming" at 15 years of age and stops at 34, the T. W. C. A. estimates the total time before a mirror is about 15,000 hours, or 1.7 years.

MALE TYPIST IS COMING BACK NOW IN BUSY OFFICES

Prediction Made That Next Five Years Will See Big Changes.

By FRANCES MONTGOMERY.

Wanted—a male stenographer. If you were to broadcast a like application, you would be in grave danger of being disappointed just as a large firm in a near-by city was recently. The world had just about forgotten that there was such a thing as a male stenographer. They have been apparently as scarce as the bicuspid of the pre-verbal hen, but it comes to light that the demand for them amounts to an eager search and, along with the demand, comes now the young man with a desire to supply it. Like the styles of ancient Egypt, the male stenographer has come back.

During recent war times, our business colleges were busy lives of queen bees only and the term stenographer invariably brought to mind a pretty and efficient young woman. Directly after the war, the young man considered the typist job as a girl's place and no work for an enterprising male. But now, according to business colleges and employment agencies, the male stenographer is entering the game again and the young man sees in such a livelihood a business future.

MALE TYPIST NOT EXTINGUISHED

Says the head of a local business college: "It is true that the girl stenographer has practically walked away with the field but the male stenographer is by no means extinct. There are fewer men stenographers in the West than in the East and there is a demand for them here which, for a time, it seemed could not be filled. But suddenly the young man has seen the opportunity and before another five years, we will find that the word 'stenographer' need not be of feminine gender."

A young woman instructor in an Oakland business college says that the girl stenographer is the more capable, that she keeps a more level head and is more accurate in the speed but that the man shows up better on the long endurance test.

Says the man who employs all male stenographers: "The man is the more efficient. The stenographer for a lumber company will know what a two-by-four is and understand the business quicker than a woman." He says that the male stenog is better able to keep the firm's secrets. Just gasp at that! The detective agencies hire male typists only. It seems Henry has the great power of will to keep a deep dark secret even from wife but Annabelle just couldn't help telling friend husband all about the juicy bits she is 'in on' at the office.

SOME FIRMS WANT MEN.

The stenography companies, government offices and lumber offices seek the male stenographer and the wise young man who has a tendency that way has a clear field. Nowadays, the male stenographer is not merely the type of the chief cog in the business and financial wheel of the concern and is prepared to handle much beyond the plain duties of being stenographer.

Several Eastern stenographers of the fair sex say they will don green goggles and a false nose when the wife of the boss calls before they'll stand by and see a mere man take over their job.

How Do You Feel Today?

The predisposing or remote causes of nervous and mental disorder are, as has been shown, faulty heredity and the present day environment with its overstimulation of the brain and nervous system, and its lack of sufficient time for rest and proper recreation.

Among the causes of nervousness, the most common is physical or organic disorder or disease. The nervous system proper consists of the brain and spinal cord and the peripheral nerves. Some of these nerves carry to the brain and spinal cord the sensations of contact, heat, cold, pressure, pain, taste, smell, sound, visual impression. Others carry forth the impulses which produce motion. In addition, the nervous system is connected through the sympathetic system with the ductless glands, the thyroid, suprarenal and sex glands, the salivary glands, the heart, lungs, stomach, spleen, pancreas, liver, intestines and kidney. Any abnormal condition existing anywhere in the body has its effect upon the nervous system and produces a corresponding reaction. The mind also may react upon the body and may produce disturbances or loss of function of some of its organs. For this reason, no one should undertake to treat the mind without having a knowledge also of the body, and vice versa.

Mental dullness in a child may be only a symptom of some underlying physical disorder such as under-activity or over-activity of one of the ductless glands, lack of oxygen due to adenoids or enlarged tonsils, defective vision or audition, or impaired nutrition. Super-

BALLET SEEKING

OAKLAND'S BEST DANCER QUARTET

Four From Here Will Have Chance for Place in National Premiere.

Oakland has been selected as one of the 100 leading American cities to contribute participants to the premiere of the National American Ballet in Washington next October, according to word received here yesterday. Contestants will be inaugurated at once in the leading cities to select four dancers from each city to take part in the national affair.

A public contest is to be held in Oakland soon to select the four best from this city. The contestants must be over sixteen years of age and the pupils of the dancing schools of the city will be given three months preliminary training in a training camp for rehearsals for the national American ballet to be established in the national capital. This will be without cost to the candidate. The camp will be opened about the time the schools close in June, so that the work will not interfere with the education of the dancers.

Full particulars of the contest will be given upon application to the National American Ballet association, Box 1515, Washington.

The contestants must be given before the public in the contest.

Out-of-town students, anywhere in the state, may register in the city nearest them where a contest is being held, provided they are Americans and sixteen years of age or more. Judges for the contest in this city will be chosen from among the musical circles, are composers, authors and dramatic critics. The points on which the contestants will be criticized are: "Do you know anything about Russia?" "No; I've merely heard about it, read about it, and been there."

Carnation Home Cooking Lessons

This new series of lessons on milk cookery will appear weekly. Mrs. Blake's counsel will be helpful and stimulating, because of her practical experience in home cooking. She will answer any question or practical asked by her readers. Address Mrs. Mary Blake, care-Carnation Milk Products Co., Stuart Building, Seattle, Washington.

LESSON 5 — 1923 Series

Dainty Candies and Confections

FOR this lesson, I am going to give you a change from the staple dishes we have been studying and take up a subject which will be of special interest to the girls, but which should not be neglected by even the most practical housewives.

Candies have a definite place in the diet of everyone and those made at home are more economical and more wholesome than most of the factory-made products. Because of its cream consistency, Carnation Milk is especially good in candies, bringing to them a truly delicious flavor. In all these recipes calling for Carnation Milk and water, it is essential to see that they are thoroughly mixed.

Fudge

2 cups sugar, 1/2 cupful Carnation Milk, 1/2 teaspoonful cream tartar, 1/2 cupful water, 2 tablespoonfuls butter, 2 squares unsweetened chocolate.

Put the sugar, cream of tartar and the Carnation Milk and water, which has been thoroughly mixed together, in a saucepan, stirring thoroughly. Place on fire and boil slowly; time cooking until the candy forms a soft ball when tested in cold water. Remove from the fire. Let it partially cool, then stir vigorously until creamy and thick. Turn into a buttered pan and cut into squares.

Old-fashioned Molasses Taffy

1/2 cupful molasses, 1/4 cupful vinegar, 1/2 cupful Carnation Milk, 1/2 teaspoonful cream of tartar, 1/2 cupful water, 3 tablespoonfuls butter, 1/2 cupful sugar. Mix the Carnation Milk and water thoroughly, add the molasses, sugar and vinegar in a saucepan, stir until it begins to boil, then add the cream of tartar when nearly done and the butter and the soda. Continue boiling until it becomes brittle when tried in cold water. Pour on a buttered plate; when cool pull until it is light colored. Cut into small pieces with scissors. (Caution: Use a good grade of light colored molasses.)

Pralines

1 1/2 cupfuls powdered sugar, 1 cupful maple syrup, 1/2 cupful Carnation Milk, 2 cupfuls hickory or pecan meats, cut in pieces, pinch of salt.

Boil the first three ingredients until a soft ball is formed when tested in cold water, take from the fire and beat until it is thick and creamy, then add the hickory or pecan meats to shape, drop by spoonfuls, forming small piles of the mixture on a buttered paper.

(Clip and paste this lesson in your cook book. If you have missed any previous lesson, I will be glad to send it to you on request.)

Divinity

2 1/2 cupfuls sugar, 1/2 cupful Carnation Milk, 2 egg whites, 1/2 cupful corn syrup, 1/2 cupful water. Mix the Carnation Milk and water thoroughly, add the corn syrup and sugar. Place over fire and stir until the mixture begins to boil. Boil until it forms a hard ball when tested in cold water or till it reaches 255 degrees F. Remove from the fire and let stand while beating the egg whites. Beat the eggs very stiff. Pour the syrup slowly over the beaten whites, beating constantly. Drop by spoonfuls on a buttered plate, or pour into pan and mark into squares. Chopped nuts may be added if desired. (In making divinity, keep the sides of the pan free from any scum or crust that may form from the sugar, by wiping a small piece of cloth that has been dampened around a fork and continually keep wiping the sides. This is to prevent any hard granules from coming into the syrup.)

Questions and Answers

Why do my cakes crack when baking? Mrs. S. E. W.

It crusts over and then when the rising process begins it has to crack through this crust to find room. If you bake by gas, put your cake in the oven and light the gas the same time. Divide your baking time into quarters, remembering that the second and third quarters are the periods in which the cake should rise to its full height and the fourth quarter it should brown. This is for loaf cake—layer cakes should be baked much more quickly.

How can meringue dressing be made without eggs? Mrs. F. L. S.

Put 1/2 teaspoonful salt and 1/2 teaspoonful paprika in a bowl; add 2 tablespoonfuls Carnation Milk and mix thoroughly; add slowly 1/2 cup oil, beating constantly. Then add 1 tablespoonful lemon juice or vinegar.

Gen. Wood Gives Shafroth Record

DENVER, April 8.—Leonard Wood, governor general of the Philippine islands, today went on record in the Colorado senatorial contest as commending Morrison Shafroth, Democrat, one of the candidates for the seat made vacant by the death of Senator Nicholas.

The appointment is to be made by Governor W. E. Sweet. Already Governor Sweet has received recommendations from ex-President Wilson, W. C. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, W. J. Bryan and others.

Wood's commendation of Shafroth came in a telegram to Governor Sweet from Major General Frank McIntyre, chief of the bureau of insular affairs, in Washington D. C. The telegram, signed by McIntyre, as given out at the governor's office, read:

"Following cable message, dated April 7, 1923:

Indicted Colonel Will Give Self Up

WASHINGTON, April 8.—(By International News Service.)—Colonel William A. Starrett of New York, recently indicted with former Assistant Secretary of War Benedict Croswell for alleged conspiracy to defraud the government, has abandoned his plan to resist extradition to Washington, it was announced at the Department of Justice today.

Oil Fraud ProbeBY GOVERNMENT TO LAST 2 YEARS

200 Cases Investigated, But Half Way Mark Is Not Yet Reached.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 8.—With the government preparing to render the promoter-swindler impotent by barring him from the state, with 200 oil fraud cases already investigated and with plans made to extend the oil probe to Dallas, Tex., and Wichita, Kan., United States District Attorney Zweifel said today that the half-way mark had not been reached in the investigation of oil promoters.

The grand jury resumed its sessions today. Two years probably will be required to clean up all the investigations, Zweifel asserted. The department of justice has obtained a clue as to the whereabouts of two men of twenty-six for whom warrants were issued and who have thus far evaded arrest.

Zweifel has asked the department at Washington for two additional postoffice inspectors, experienced in mail fraud work. He indicated that the investigation in Dallas would uncover fraudulent operations on a wholesale scale.

Zweifel would not state how many indictments might be returned here this week. He explained that 500 persons had been under investigation, but that "nothing like that many" would be indicted.

Effect of the fraud order is to protect persons against whom it is directed and their associates from receiving any mail. Such incoming letters are intercepted by the postmaster, stamped "fraudulent" and returned to the sender. Promoters are quoted as having admitted that the fraud order is the government weapon they fear most as it would put them out of business practically.

As to losses sustained by the public, through the operation of oil promoters in the northern district of Texas, Zweifel said the total would be appalling. Total losses through promotion schemes are estimated as running into nine figures.

WHITE HOUSE AS HOME CHAINEDBY MRS. H. FORD

ALBANY, Ga., April 8.—(By the Associated Press).—Mrs. Henry Ford will not live at the White House, she told a group of persons here yesterday, when several ladies approached her husband, the automobile manufacturer for some statement regarding the presidency. One woman said she would like to work at the White House and Mrs. Ford promptly replied, however, that the presidency was not included in the aims of her life work, and that she had no desire to serve as chief executive of the United States.

Ford promptly said, "he would have to go without me." If you see it in The TRIBUNE call them 80.

Like most housewives, she prepared her foods well, and served them daintily.

She was pleased when her husband complimented her cooking—as he usually did.

But something told her—perhaps it was her woman's intuition—perhaps her husband's silence on the question of coffee—that the coffee she made wasn't exactly right.

She tried using more coffee—then less. She made it in different ways, but to no avail.

Then she decided she would try some other brand.

The next morning she served M-J-B Coffee for breakfast. My, but she was proud when her husband said "This is the finest cup of coffee I ever drank."

The exhibitors from other states are so impressed with the hospitality and co-operation of the radio exhibitors of the bay district and the record attendance that they unanimously agreed to participate next year in the exhibit.

The exposition comprised exhibitors from all parts of the country, including the national manufacturers of radio and electrical apparatus. As a result of the success of the first show many of the eastern exhibitors are planning to establish branches in San Francisco.

"Through your column please advise me as to the best way in which a high school course may be taken during evening."

Go to Oakland Public School night school, three nights a week, from 7 o'clock to 9 o'clock. Classes are held in all the high school buildings. It is now too late for this term, as it closes on June 15 and opens again in the fall. The exact date will be announced later.

"Will you kindly tell me how to dry clean a white crepe de chine waist?"

Use gasoline and naphtha. The naphtha can be purchased at any drug store. Soak in gasoline for an hour. Then wash and rinse in clean gasoline. Use this method on a bright, sunny day. Gasoline and naphtha can be mixed to advantage, one part naphtha to two of gasoline. A good dry cleaning soap can be made as follows, as soaps soluble in benzene are employed for the dual purpose of assisting the cleaning process and to minimize the risk of fire. The following quantities give satisfactory results: parts by weight: Oleic acid, five parts; caustic potash, one part; dissolved in methylated spirits, four parts. These quantities are arranged to produce a slightly super-saturated soap freely soluble in benzene. By dissolving the quantity of oleic acid, the solubility of the soap in benzene is increased. Use this soap in benzene and rinse in clean benzene, after which the garment should be hung up to dry in the sun.

A Delight

That millions have discovered

Whiter, cleaner, safer teeth

Look about you—note the pretty smile to show them. Think what added beauty those pearly teeth have brought. Millions now clean teeth in a new way. You will use it when you know. This is to offer a ten-day test so you may find it out.

It holds the acid in contact with why tooth troubles were almost universal. Germs breed by millions in film. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea, now so alarmingly common.

Film coats left. Old brushing methods left much film intact. No ordinary tooth paste effectively combats it. So dental science sought for film combatants, and eventually found two. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring. Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then a new-type tooth paste was created, based Teeth are coated with a dingy film—that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. Food stains, etc., discolor it, then it forms cloudy coats. Tartar is based on film. That's why teeth lose luster. Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid.

That tooth paste is called Pepsodent. Now it has come into world-wide use, largely by dental advice.

Other effects. Pepsodent also multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant

gest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids. Those are vital tooth protectors. Soapy tooth pastes weaken them. That's one reason why they failed. Pepsodent multiplies their power.

Watch the change. The way to know is to make this test. Judge by what you see and feel. It will be a revelation.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

Read about it in the great serial novel “DEVIL DUST.”

A story of the dope traffic of the world.

Trail the dragon morphia with the “Jungle Buzzard” and the “Black Angel” from the poppy fields of Bengal to the hop dens of Oakland and San Francisco.

“DEVIL DUST”

A story of the narcotic traffic of the world

By George C. Henderson

Written by the author of “The Quist Mystery,” “Vanishing Wives” and “The Army of a Million Crooks,” is the first American novel to deal exhaustively with the “dope” evil from an international standpoint.

“After the poppy petals fall” then do the pods become full of rich fluid

The egg-shaped pods are cut with multi-bladed lances and a beautiful creamy substance, with a dash of pink in it, is collected in jars.

“After the poppy petals fall,” then the trouble begins. From ports of India, Persia, Turkey and from Christian lands the soul poison is spewed forth over the earth, leaving destruction in its wake.

Customs barriers are broken down. Law officers are bribed. Smugglers, peddlers, vicious criminals and the “dope fiends” themselves join the conspiracy to spread the dream stuff.

Traffic in “Devil Dust” is a business of international scope. It involves many of the powerful nations of the globe.

Can the morphia dragon be scotched? “Devil Dust” answers that question. And yet “Devil Dust” is something more than an exposition of the “dope” trade.

A girl’s soul is torn. She loves a boy. Duty bids her send him away with contempt in his heart for her. Will love or duty win?

“Devil Dust” is a living, throbbing tale of clashing of human instincts and emotions, of greed, hatred, lust, desire for power.

SHRINER CIRCUS WILL HAVE NEW STUNTS ON CARD

Feminine and Masculine Style Shows Are to Be Enlarged.

After an auspicious opening Saturday evening the Shrine Circus will resume tonight and continue for the remainder of the week. Announcement is made that the ticket committees have disposed of 70,000 single admissions to the show.

An entirely new programme will be offered for this evening. Ben Bono, the daredevil aerial artist, will present a new series of mid air evolutions. Melvic, the motion picture cowboy, who scored a big success with his horsemanship Saturday, promises new and novel stunts. Fifteen acts in all are offered.

Free dancing with music furnished by Rosebrook and his band will be a nightly feature.

An object of exceptional popularity Saturday and one which has every indication of being one of the big hits of the show is found in the various exhibits in the style show. A fashion show staged by models from the Reich and Lieve store attracted wide attention and it is announced that new gowns and styles will be shown each evening. A masculine style show was another feature to register a hit.

The Circus has been arranged by the officials of Ashmun Temple to raise funds with which to send the Oakland Shrine delegation to the Shrine Convention in Washington D. C. It is planned to make the trip of the Oakland delegation an advertising expedition for the eastbay district. It is the belief of the Shrine officials that this is the psychological time for the city to capitalize the advertising campaign now being conducted in the East by the Californians Incorporated.

A special car in the train which will carry the Shrine circus will be fitted up for Oakland advertising purposes and the car will carry a complete stock of eastbay advertising literature. This will be distributed at the stops en route to and from Washington and wherever the occasion offers lectures on the eastbay district will be given.

Missing Boys Last

ALAMEDA, April 8.—Since the police of the bay cities have been unable to find any clue to the disappearance of Forrest and William Gertsen, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gertsen, 1829 Ninth street, from their home on February 27, the mother of the boys has become inconsolable.

The boys are 18 and 16 years of age, respectively. Forrest is 5 feet 10 inches in height, weighs 135 pounds and has a dark complexion. The younger brother is 5 feet 7 inches in height, weighs 130 pounds and has a fair complexion.

Vague reports have come to the parents that the boys were seen about the San Francisco waterfront about two weeks ago.

CHEST WORKERS WILL PUT MORE PEP INTO DRIVE

Results of Opening Days Are Disappointing to Committee Members.

BERKELEY, April 9.—A more determined and not so over-confident group of community chest workers will gather at the second report dinner tonight at 6:15 at the high school. Robert Spruill, controller of the University of California, will address the workers and Campaign Manager Roy R. Henderson will have a message to deliver. The committee emphasized in a call sent out this morning that it is absolutely essential for every individual worker to attend the meeting tonight.

Failure of contributions during the first days of the week's drive to come anywhere near what was considered a conservative estimate, if the chest quota of $122,875 is to be reached, is greatly worrying the campaign committee. It resulted in a special conference of district leaders and team captains being called yesterday afternoon. Campaign Manager Henderson did not mince words in telling the campaign executives that the workers have got to take hold harder and citizens must give more if the campaign is going to succeed.

"We must arouse citizens to the reality that campaigns of this sort cannot be put over by letting the other fellow do the work and give the money," said Henderson. "The entire Pacific coast is looking to see how Berkeley takes hold of the community chest plan and it will be disastrous for the city if the drive fails."

Henderson said that tonight's report would have to show a total collection of $75,000 to assure the success of the drive. Rev. W. R. H. Hodgkin, chairman of the committee, urged district leaders and captains to be sure every worker is present at tonight's dinner.

Pledged to Reduce Taxes

Reorganizing the Machinery of Government.

BY Eliminating Duplication of Functions.

Increasing City Income from Other Sources

Any private business organized like Oakland's local government would soon go bankrupt. The continuous stream of taxpayers' money at high tax rates is barely sufficient now to keep the present government machine creaking on.

Increasing population means increasing expense for necessary public services of education, police, fire and health and these community responsibilities must be met first.

In addition large public improvements are now proposed to keep pace with city growth. If the people vote the bonds, this will mean increased taxes to pay interest and sinking funds.

There is only one answer—reorganize our business or government and cut out unnecessary expense or we are stuck right where we stand. Eventually—why not now?

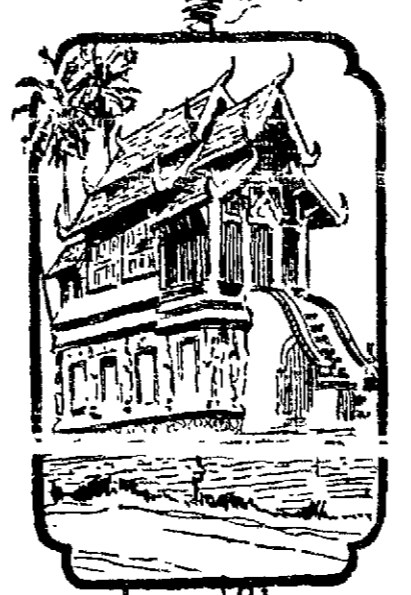

A sound business basis for government comes first.

WE MUST RESTORE THE CONFIDENCE OF OUR PEOPLE IN THE SENSIBLE ADMINISTRATION OF OUR GOVERNMENT THEN ALL THINGS WILL BE ADDED UNTO US.

It's Time We Got Our Feet on the Ground

Born of science
to fill a great need

AMERICA has become so used to the sugar-and-water type of beverage that a drink which really buoys you up and makes you feel genuinely better is both unexpected and welcome.

Ko-Fan, that new fascinating drink from the Tropics and Far East, does this. It braces up both body and brain. It gives real and lasting refreshment.

Leonard, the scientist, says of one of the principal elements of Ko-Fan:

"It stirs a man up and enlivens him, and he feels much better."

This is the reason Ko-Fan is becoming so tremendously popular. It fills a real need.

It was a happy coincidence that the scientific blending of the many good things that produce this wholesome vigor and vim should also provide a flavor which is superbly pleasing.

Try Ko-Fan today. Its taste alone will win you.

KLAN DENOUNCED BY MINISTER WHO BANISHED AGENTS

Church Night Will Pay to Be Delivered From 'Friend' Pastor Declares.

PITTSBURGH, April 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Rev. Dr. Ralph W. Urm, pastor of the First Baptist church, who ordered a group of white robed Klansmen from his church Easter Sunday morning, last night attacked the principles of that organization in a sermon on the "Ku Klux Klan and the Church."

After disclosing that following the Easter day incident he had been waited upon by the king kleele of the Pennsylvania realm and leading Klansmen of the state, Dr. Urm declared:

"The increasing frequency of visits paid by delegations of Klansmen to Protestant churches, bring denotations of money with the possible intention of establishing a connection between the Klan and the church, naturally raises the question of relationship between the two."

"The Protestant church prides itself on its faithfulness to American ideals. But the Klan in my opinion, does not measure up. While I deny the right of any group of citizens to tell me or any other man what our type of Americanism ought to be, reserving the right to decide that for myself, I nevertheless asked the king kleele of Pennsylvania what Klansmen meant by 100 per cent Americans."

"The answer given by one of the other high officials present was, 'a 100 per cent American is a citizen who is born in the United States and the country of the United States.'"

"But the Klan is not even careful to support the laws. It is a common practice for its members to violate the laws that protect church service from intrusion and disturbance."

"The genuine American works in the open. He is a sportsman and a gentleman. He is neither ashamed nor afraid to show his face, his purposes and even his methods."

Dr. Urm concluded:

"The Klan is very friendly to the Protestant church and its friends, but I cannot help feel that when it comes to the application of the Protestant principles of life the church might well pray to be delivered from its friend."

Highway Trees to Get Heroes' Names

DULUTH, Minn., April 9.—A large part of the activities of the Theodore Roosevelt International Highway association during the spring months will be devoted to the planting of trees along the right of way of the highway, each tree to represent a World War veteran.

Announcement of this program has been made at the international headquarters of the association.

"The idea," said A. W. Tracy, executive secretary of the association, "is thus to memorialize the heroism of officers and soldiers who gave their lives for their country, while the planting of trees throughout the length of the great highway will make it ultimately a beautiful road."

NEWS and GOSSIP FROM STAFF VOICERS AT HOME AND ABROAD

By H. K. REYNOLDS, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—The world has gone radio mad.

The amazing development of wireless communication during and since the World War has made it not only a commercial necessity and a widespread source of pleasure and recreation in all civilized countries, but it has added to the difficulties and worries of these nations, both in their domestic and international affairs.

There are about 3,000,000 amateur radio operators in the United States today—all clamoring for a chance to use the air and getting into trouble continually with the big stations maintained by the government for the transaction of its official business.

The interference resulting from this situation was partly straightened out a year ago by the Department of Commerce, but so persistently that it became necessary for Secretary of Commerce Hoover to call another national radio party here this month to "unscramble the air."

New regulations were adopted with a view to giving the amateurs and commercial operators an even break. This was accomplished through agreements limiting certain stations to the use of wave lengths which would not interfere with the operations of other stations.

The Government's radio experts declare, however, that changes will be necessary in these wave length allocations from time to time because of the increasing number of sending and receiving stations in all parts of the country.

Chief Radio Inspector Terrell estimates that there will be 10,000,000 radio stations in the United States within the next ten years.

The Navy Department, which handles most of the Government's radio stations, has been represented in the Hoover conference along with the other Federal departments which are making daily use of the air in the dissemination of information to the public and in carrying out internal affairs.

Because of its extensive radio facilities, the Navy is able to transmit a great deal of private communication such as news messages, etc., but only under strict conditions when other mediums are not available.

Secretary of State Hughes also has radio troubles, but most of them are international in character. They have developed from the efforts of American wireless companies to venture into foreign fields.

At the present time the United States is having a quiet quarrel with Japan over radio rights in China.

On the basis of a contract made with the Chinese Government by the big Mitsui company, the Japanese Government is seeking to bar American interests from building wireless stations in China, despite the claims of the Federal Government.

Most heartily extend my good wishes for the most useful results from your efforts," wrote Mr. Harding to Matthew O. Foley, Chicago executive secretary of the national hospital day committee which is sponsoring the international program "It is especially a pleasure to express my interest in the work of 'National Hospital Day,' which seeks to arouse the largest number of the country's hospitals and similar institutions. You have most properly chosen May 12, the anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, as 'National Hospital Day.'"

"One of the finest and most humane products of our civilization is the hospital," continues President Harding's endorsement, "and every activity which aims to advance its advantages is an incentive to the most commendable and noble encouragement."

D. S. Gilmore, superintendent, Wesley Memorial Hospital, Chicago, hospital day committee, and Dr. M. T. MacEachern, Ottawa, president-elect of the American Hospital Association and national hospital day chairman for Canada, were secretaries of the hospital day program of May 12, which will be held in 1923.

CANDIDATES BY RECOMMENDATION

The old joke of the "written recommendation" will be introduced into politics if one California legislator has his way. Under this plan the candidate for office will not be nominated in the primaries or by a convention; he will do his own nominating. All that will be necessary will be for the man to announce himself, secure a given number of friends who will file statements recommending the aspirant,
and furnish a history of himself, his business
and political connections and any other items
upon which the voters may judge him.

Given a community in which everyone tells the truth and in which the written recommendation is held in high regard, such a scheme might work. As it is, everyone knows the liberties the not over-modest human takes when he writes his own description. The common practice among mortals of writing a glowing letter of recommendation and supplementing it by a private note giving their real opinions is also to be taken under consideration.

When all the possibilities of this plan are considered, the ease with which certain men,
for instance those who have many creditors,
might secure recommendations, and the stimulus to large flocks of candidates for whom no party could stand responsible, it is no wonder it is occasioning some merry comment the country over. Perhaps it is one of those jokes in which a weary legislator must indulge during the long hours of budget consideration.

FINGERPRINTS NOT INFALLIBLE

An unexpected sequel to "Puddinghead Wilson" was written in Berkeley when a postal official convinced Chief Vollmer and his corps of experts that fingerprints are not so near infallible as the world has believed. Heretofore the lines and whorls of the fingerprints have been better than photograph or signature. The police have been able, with gelatin and chemicals, to remove the telltale marks from window sills or door, to print them on paper and to place them on slides for the lantern. Libraries of these prints are established, they are catalogued by characteristics, and it is a comparatively simple matter for the expert to trace a criminal by the mark he makes.

The claim that no two fingerprints are alike has not been disproved. With the upsetting of confidence in the fingerprint as indicating positively the identity of the criminal the whole system has not been proved worthless. It has been shown, however, that a clever crook possessing the information which is possessed by the postal official who demonstrated his discovery, could leave behind him the finger prints of another man. In most instances this other man could prove an alibi. Often he would never be found for the obvious method would be to leave fingerprints of men who had never been registered in the crime bureau.

It will take a clever crook to master this new scheme and leave his fake fingerprints for the police to find and his very cleverness might be his undoing. In the meantime the police will seek means to offset the advantage and the battle between crime and detection will be continued. Because some crooks master a way to leave in certain places fingerprints which are not their own, does not mean the system will have to be scrapped. Other crooks will leave their own prints in plenty of places and even the best of them would have to be constantly on guard lest they record the telltale clue.

ANOTHER ARCHAEOLOGIST.

Early reports of the remarkable discovery of a San Jose man in the Santa Cruz mountains would indicate he has come upon the fossil of the original mermaid, or possibly that of a Sphinx or centaur.
Viewed with the enthusiasm of discovery and, possibly, with a mind influenced somewhat by the recent stories from Egypt, the marks on the California rocks have taken astounding form. The discoverer has written a letter to university experts in which he describes a fossil resembling a lion and a bird with the torso of a human being. He asks to know what it is all about.

When science looks at this fossil it will lose some of its romantic appeal. Maybe it will be found to be no more than the petrified branch of a tree or a scattered number of bones. Certainly it will not be a sphinx, a unicorn, a centaur, or a dodo bird no matter how much the world would like to welcome such a find.

There may be significance in the fact that the San Jose discoverer came upon his fossil on April 1.

DOCTOR COOK AGAIN

Old Doc Cook, the man who discovered how to make the world believe, for a time, he had found the North Pole, hero of a dubious Mt.
McKinley climb and a successful discoverer of reams of publicity, has been indicted for his latest exploit. It is charged that the doctor has followed this time in a path blazed by others,
one which leads from the printed prospectus and the glowing account to the pockets of the American investor. Right now he is out on $2,000 bail charged with using the mails to defraud in an oil scheme.

The Cook oil ventures attracted considerable attention and no one seemed to hold the polar experience against him. The glory of that day in 1909 when he came out of somewhere in the North to starlie Copenhagen and the world with the story of his discovery of the pole seems to have held some of its lustre. The Cook story created one of the greatest sensations the peaceful world of those days had known. Then scientists and a few newspaper reporters examined the framework of the tale and Doc
Cook was discredited.

Now he is attracting attention again, as an oil promoter who promised great returns for small investments and the government has announced its intention to prosecute. Will Doctor Cook be able to discover a way out of the predicament?

OPIUM AND CHINA

The Opium War in China was fought because the Chinese resisted attempts to import opium from India. Today China is encouraging and even forcing by edict the growing of the opium poppies and the authorities in a single district expect to raise $15,000,000 a year in taxes on the product.

The change in view has been caused by the need of money and by callous effects of the narcotic. China has had opium shoved on her at the gun point and now she is preparing to raise a terrible harvest.

If the nations of the world do not agree upon a plan to stop this trade in death and misery thousands of innocents must suffer — must reap the consequences of what avaricious
white men have sown in the Orient. Bankrupt China is providing by law that farmers must cultivate a certain area of poppies, the treasury department is already figuring the sum which will come in as taxes. There seems to be no doubt as to the waiting market.

What part of that market for the increased opium production will have to be "developed"?
Who is going to pay the price in health and ambition? Will the nations continue to shudder and deplore and do nothing to stop the growing and the shipping of opium and other narcotics?

"Twelve unbroken miles of flowering fruit trees between here and San Jose," writes a man visiting in San Francisco to the New York World and the letter appeared on a day when blizzards took over the eastern city. Another thing regarded as remarkable by the correspondent was the use of the suffix "teria" as in cafeteria, hatteria, sweeteria, grocerteria," etc.
This assault upon the language, he argues, is the wildest thing in the West.

A sound projector has been made which will magnify the human voice 12,000 times. What is needed is a sound reducer which will attack
the man who whispers the captions at the movies.

The next thing for Conan Doyle to do is apply his theory of "elementals" to present day

ible traffic cops could do toward making the highway safe!

BRITISH SHIP JOYS FADE

Reported British excitement over failure of the ship subsidy bill has now been succeeded by apprehension over realization that steps will be taken to maintain the American merchant marine, says a statement issued yesterday by the National Merchant Marine association, of which Senator Joseph E. Ransdell (Democrat), Louisiana, is president.
"The first reaction of the British press," the association says, "was rejoicing in the belief that failure to pass the bill would result in the government's almost instantly scrapping its tonnage and going out of the shipping business. When it was found, however, that the government's ships would continue to function pending their sale and that scrapping would be limited to inefficient and inactive tonnage there was a decided change of tone abroad. British papers now profess to see in the situation a grave
menace to British shipping."
"One factor which seems to be especially disturbing to the British is reflected in their admissions that continued operation of Shipping Board vessels will make it impossible for British shipowners to raise ocean freights, because there will be an adequate supply of cargo space available. Fears are also expressed that a large number of the board's vessels will be sold at scrap prices to the Germans to be run in competition with English tonnage. Many British papers now profess to see in the situation a grave
menace to British shipping."

The Formal Touch.
The Writer
of The Lantern,
Mr. Donald R. P. Marquis, presents
his compliments
to his friends
and acquaintances,
and humbly
beseeches them
not to feel that there is any animosity
on his part,
or any spirit of rudeness,
if he finds
it impossible to accept their many kind invitations to address
meetings of various sorts,
or to read
from his own works
at social gatherings
or literary oracles
of any description.
He has no time
for culture combats,
as the preparation
of The Lantern
occupies his time
for twenty-three hours out of every twenty-four.
The remaining hour
of each day
he must devote
to sleep,
to his meals,
to religious observances,
to sports,
such as Kelly pool,
Rum,
Rum hunting,
and hunting,
to becoming acquainted with his own family,
to the production
of such literature,
dramatic and fictional,
as it is advisable not to print
in this column:
to scientific research,
to shaving,
and speculation
on the nature of the universe
and the secret of life.
One hour a day
is not too much
to give to these things.
Mr. Marquis's sympathy is with you
in your intellectual feats,
your advertising man's luncheon and the table
dinner where the table
groans under the weight of the assembled
wits and wags,
but his flesh is weak
and he will be darned
if, henceforth, he gives up that one hour
a day to any cause!
Nothing should be more delightful
to a poet
than reading from his own works
at a social pumpus
of some sort.
But Mr. Marquis,
when he arises
to speak
or read, always feels pigeon-toed,
and the sense
that a fat man cannot afford to be pigeon-toed,
at least in public,
overwhelms him
to the point where his right hand
clenches to the roof
of his mouth
and his tongue forgets
its meaning.
But, principally,
the reason for this formal refusal of the invitations
which now clutter up his desk has to do with the element
of time.
He trusts that none of you will feel that you have been personally slighted,
he hopes that you will understand and understand MARQUIS.

House Divided.

Some years ago there were in Paris two papers, the Razon and the Secorion, which were divided attacking each other.

A certain philanthropist, feeling disposed to see such animosity displayed, invited the two editors to dinner, in the hope that over good dinner, they could make peace between them. At the appointed time one of the philanthropist was presented on an interval, as no other guest appeared, the host demanded:
"May I ask, are you the editor of the Razon or the Secorion?"
"Both," said the fat-eyed man.

Lure of the Limelight.

Mike Cunningham, who was an interesting Chicago character, got a job as stagehand at a vaudeville theater. In his first week he fell to him to don a policeman's uniform, and at the conclusion of one of the scenes in a comedy sketch
he chased a comedy team across the stage, meanwhile brandishing
a big club.
On Wednesday night he went to the dressing room of the comedian and said, "Say, do me a favor—
will you?"
"What is it?" asked the actor.
"When I chase you across the stage tonight let me catch you and beat you up. Me golly, out front!"

Cause of Doubt.

There was an all-round good-for nothing man who died, and at his funeral the minister delivered a most beautiful address, eulogizing
the departed in the most glowing manner, praising his splendid qualities as a fine type of man, a good man, a man of high character.
About this time the widow, who was seated well up in front, spoke to her little daughter behind her,
and said: "Why don't you look in the corner and see if it is your father?"

New Orleans Item: "Valentine main, torture, and destroy. That leans resumes the even tenor of its himself from 'The Sheik.' Everything pertaining to the romance of Christian Science Monitor: "A great deal has been said about the opening of the Grand Central Artillery in New York. A picture gallery over a railroad station is a novelty. The experiment of a permanent exhibition on commercial lines is one to be watched with interest. But the chief thing that ought to strike the visitor, who has eyes to see, is the arrangement of the rooms, for they present an unmistakable proof that attention paid to the hanging of pictures and the placing of sculpture is important, whether the main object of an exhibition is to provide pleasure for lovers of art or to 'do business' for artists."

Kansas City Star: "It would be a happy development indeed if the colleges could assume the responsibility of turning out men and women ready at once to fit into the social and industrial order.
Much of the skepticism about the value of college training would be dispersed at once, were the development possible. Certainly, it must be said that in most cases college men and women do find their places and in time 'make good.' But the problem of years of adjustment in a very large percentage of cases still remains. And it is this problem the colleges are facing."

themselves can be worked out unfairly. But the fact there has been

CONTENTMENT.
A little house on a little street Where the children scamper on eager feet,
A friendly tree and a friendly door,
Who is the man who would wish
for more?
What have the palace or mansion
fine
That God has dealed unto me and
mine?
Laughter? Mine is as sweet and clear
As ever rings in a mortal's ear!
Smiles? My babe's are as fair to see
As ever a monarch's child could be.
And the proud rich man who is riding high Shall come to no happier home than I.

Over my roof the blue sky bends,
Under my roof the toiling ends,
Small be the house, but what care I,
Rich with peace are the hours that fly.
What if he brightens his meal with wine?
I shall have laughter and love with
mine.
What has another that I must gain?
The sunbeams dance through my window pane,
The same rain falls on the friendly tree,
The same joys comfort both him
and me.
Shall fond arms welcome him home
today?
I shall be met in the self-same way.

So I am as rich as a king, I say,
Though I must trudge to my toil
by day;
My children are dear and as fair
to me
As ever a monarch's babes could be,
And I shall find love at my humble
door,
And who is the man who can boast
of more?

URUGUAY'S CENTENARY.
Uruguay is to celebrate a Centenary of Independence in 1935.
The government is preparing to important event by providing for a new governmental palace to be erected in the capital, Montevideo.
This palace will contain the offices of both the municipal and national governments. Several American architects will submit drawings in the international competition, which will close on August 8, of this year, to provide plans for this important building. The winner of the competition will receive a prize of $8500; the second prize will be $4250 and the third $2350.
The jury of awards has been authorized to divide an additional $4250 among other competitors, should their work merit this recognition. The erection of the palace will be in charge of the successful architect, who will receive 3 per cent of the total cost as additional compensation for this special work. A plan has been provided for keeping secret the names of the competitors until after the awards have been made, and even then only the names of the prize-winners will be known to the judges and to the public.

PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICE

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
M.D. and Ph.D.
GERMS ON INTIMATE THINGS.
THE HEALTH VALUE OF ASEPTIC TECHNIC.
One great drawback about trying to teach health through a newspaper in homeopathic doses is that the class is forever changing,
old pupils quitting, either in disgust or because they begin to apprehend they know about all the teacher pretends he knows, and new pupils joining the class day
by day.
Let us explain to today's pupils that aseptic means germ free, and aseptic technic is the method which the surgeon and his assistants use to prevent infection of wounds and the modern physician and his assistants use to prevent the spread of communicable disease. One of the vitally important differences between even the dependable kind of practical nurse who commands the indorsement of the physicians of her community,
and the trained nurse, is the latter's aseptic technic, which makes the trained nurse an indispensable factor in so many cases where were it not for the grave consequences of infection, a practical nurse might serve very well, for instance, when an operation is to be done or a compound fracture (a broken bone to which germs have possible access through a wound of the skin or mucous membrane)
properly cared for or a family augmented. An aseptic technic sufficiently trustworthy for such work is quite beyond the capabilities of even the most intelligent and conscientious of practical nurses. It demands professional training.
Yet anybody with enough intelligence to try to keep flies away from food—nowadays many of us have moments of unease by reason of such intelligence, if not weeks of disease by reason of the flies—
may, without becoming at all fanciful, develop a personal aseptic technic which affords real security against chance infection with disease.
Remember that this aseptic
technic means cleanliness as regards invisible "dirt," microbes,
not the mere removal or avoidance of visible "dirt," which is often enough quite harmless. As I have suggested on other occasions, some of our cleanest people (in the visible sense) are the dirtiest (in a sanitary sense). I hope that is quite clear, for it means much in reference to the aseptic conscience I am striving to arouse.
If the use of antiseptics in the mouth or throat or nose conferred protection against infectious or germ disease there would be no need to bother about personal asepsis. If the filling of the house or sickroom with any kind of vapor, smoke, gas or fumes repeatedly prevented the spread of infectious disease we might touch off some fireworks each night and morning and save ourselves all the labor of keeping clean.
A word to the soap manufacturers should be sufficient. I fear they have overlooked an opportunity to popularize soap. For a people who boast so much about bathing as we Americans do, we have a very low per capita soap consumption. For a people so fond of "sanitary" conditions, we support a disgracefully large number of "joints" and other places where food is eaten but no adequate provision is made for the patron to wash his hands.

BARBARIAN CLUB WINS CALIFORNIA SOCCER CHAMPIONSHIP

ST. MARY'S COLLEGE BASEBALL TEAM DEFEATS SANTA CLARA IN FIRST GAME OF SERIES

Olympic Club Defeated for Soccer Title

Lone Goal From Penalty By Albrecht in Second Half Decides Game.

Before a crowd estimated at over 4000 soccer enthusiasts, the Barbarians pulled the unexpected yesterday afternoon at Tolin field in San Francisco and defeated the Olympic club kickers 1 to 0 in the final game of the Cup Tie series. Yesterday's victory gives the Barbarians the state championship in soccer and marks an example of a team coming to the front when not conceded a chance to finish among the first three in the Cup Tie series.

BARBS IN AND OUTERS.

During the San Francisco league season the Barbs were an in and out aggregation and even during the tie failed to play brilliant soccer. Their final victory came as an unexpected climax to a season of surprises, for having eliminated the Thistles in another surprise contest the Barbs well earned the title of the "dark horse" winners.

The championship game yesterday was far from an excellent exhibition of soccer. Many better games were seen in San Francisco this year, both due the Cup Tie and during the Transbay League soccer season.

The lone goal of yesterday's contest came as a result of a foul kick by Albrecht of the Barbs in the second period after the two teams had battled to a scoreless deadlock for the first half.

HAD MANY CHANCES.

The Barbarians, although winners, looked poor in the opening period, missing many chances to score and playing ragged soccer in spots. Many kicks were missed by the Barbarian halfbacks and had not John Albrecht at full play supported by his teammate Johannes, the Olympic club would have driven through to a win in the first half. Hewitt in goal also played an excellent game for the Barbs and saved many tallies by his quick work under the posts. Slinger of the Olympic club also played a great game at goal.

Bobby Foster, Olympic club forward, and Hewitt of the Barbs had a collision in the second half as Foster followed in a shot for goal, Hewitt being knocked out in a brief period, but came back and finished the game.

The foul goal kick for the Barbs came late in the second half and with that lead they settled down and played a defensive game for the remaining time, although Robertson took another ball down the field for what appeared to be a certain goal, the ball striking the crossbar and going over the net.

Line-ups:

Barbarians: Post, Olympics; Hewitt, G.; G., Slinger; Albrecht, R.; H., Holbert; Bartleman, L. H.; Shakespeare; Thorpe, C. H.; Anderson; M. Hudson, O. L.; Dixon; Robertson, J. L.; Foster; Parks, J. C.; W. Connor; McCubbin, L. R.; J. O'Connor; Soutar, O. R.; Hay.

Bambino Clouts Homer in Texas

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 9.—Babe Ruth knocked a home run in the eighth inning here yesterday in the game between the New York Yankees and Brooklyn. Ruth had twice fanned out before clouting his home run. No one was on base at the time.

FREEBOOTERS DOSE

DEL MONTE, April 9.—The army polo team from Fort Bliss, Texas, went into the finals for the Del Monte polo station high ground handicap by defeating the Cardinal Freebooters here yesterday, 9 to 5. Fort Bliss started with a handicap of three goals and forced the issue from the beginning. At half-time they had a lead of 6 to 1.

MEUSEL HITS HOMER.

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 9.—Meusel's homer with the bases full and four-base smacks by Joe Dugan and Babe Ruth, gave the New York Yankees a 14-to-1 victory over the Brooklyn Robins.

O'CONNELL GOES HITLESS.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 9.—O'Connell, the Giant, hitless, went to the plate three times against the Memphis Southern Association team and failed to get a hit.

MOROCK MEN WIN 4-1.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 9.—(Exhibition)—Philadelphia (Amer. 2d) 4, 3; Rochester (International) 1, 5; 4; Omaha, O'Neill and Rowland; Weaver and Tala.

California Distance Stars Who Look Good

"POP" FISKE (left), and FRED BAUMAN (right), are two of Walter Christie's most promising distance men at Berkeley this year. Fiske is a capable performer in both the mile and two-mile, while Bauman appears to be one of the best 880 men developed at California in the past two seasons. Both are entered in more than one event in every meet and seldom fail to turn in their quota of points. With Stanford stronger in the distance runs this year than they have been in several years these two Bruins are counted on to bring home the bacon for their Alma Mater.

Bruin Tennis Squad Defeats Sutter Players

SACRAMENTO, April 9.—The University of California took six out of nine of the tennis matches played here yesterday with the Sutter Lawn Tennis club in the California interclub series.

Oehler took the only match in the singles for the locals, winning over Conrad. In the doubles the locals took two out of three. Oehler and Kuehler winning over Conrad and Stratford and McSwain and Leake winning over Weinstein and Whitehead.

SINGLES.

Bates (Cal) defeated Leake (S.), 6-1, 6-4.

Bettens (C.) defeated Davis (S.), 6-1, 6-2.

Weinstein (C.) defeated Chambers (S.), 6-1, 6-2.

Oehler (S.) defeated Conrad (C.), 6-2, 5-6, 6-4.

Stratford (C.) defeated Stick (S.), 6-4, 6-0.

Whitehead (C.) defeated Jones (S.), 6-5, 6-1, 6-1.

DOUBLES.

Bates and Bettens (C.) defeated Stick and Davis (S.), 6-3, 6-2.

Oehler and Kuehler (S.) defeated Conrad and Stratford, 6-2, 6-4.

McSwain and Leake (S.) defeated Weinstein and Whitehead, 6-2, 6-4.

Colorado Springs Man Wins On Hill

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Cal., April 9.—Ed Ryan, of Colorado Springs, Colo., won the free for all climb here yesterday, and set a new record of 15:15 seconds for the steep 600-foot course. The former record was held by Dudley Perkins of San Francisco, who went over the hill in 25 seconds flat two years ago.

The 1932 Olympic hill climb was won by a man who appeared to be a local, but it was actually won by a man from the United States.

Shortly afterward, however, France smoothed out its difficulties and the American team sought the games for 1932. The international committee, meeting last June, decided to accept, instead, the bid of Amsterdam, Holland, explaining that a majority of nations felt economic conditions would make it impossible for European competitors to finance an invasion of America.

At the same time the committee sanctioned an international meeting at Los Angeles in September, 1932, to dedicate the California city's new stadium.

The 1932 Olympic will mark the second time they have been held in this country. The third meet after the Olympic revival in 1896 was held in St. Louis in 1904, when American competitors, with the advantage of contesting on their own soil, swept the field.

1932 Olympic Games Awarded To Los Angeles

ROME, April 9.—(By The Associated Press.)—The Olympic games for 1932 have been awarded to Los Angeles, California.

This date was the first available for the United States because the 1924 games go to Paris and the 1928 games to Amsterdam.

The award was made by the International Olympic committee.

The American claim for the next available award for the games was presented to the committee by William May Garland of Los Angeles, one of the American members of the committee.

"The United States thinks she has a right to the next available games because we are one of the great athletic countries of the world," Mr. Garland said.

America Wins Big Meet After Hard Campaign

NEW YORK, April 9.—Award of the Olympic games of 1932 to Los Angeles by the International Olympic committee today in Rome marks the final chapter of a vigorous campaign by American athletic authorities, particularly those in California, to bring the international meet to this country. Competing a great new stadium and offering attractive inducements, Los angeles won out over Amsterdam, the Netherlands, which had been the favorite choice of the committee.

Shortly afterward, however, France smoothed out its difficulties and the American team sought the games for 1932. The international committee, meeting last June, decided to accept, instead, the bid of Amsterdam, Holland, explaining that a majority of nations felt economic conditions would make it impossible for European competitors to finance an invasion of America.

At the same time the committee sanctioned an international meeting at Los Angeles in September, 1932, to dedicate the California city's new stadium.

The 1932 Olympic will mark the second time they have been held in this country. The third meet after the Olympic revival in 1896 was held in St. Louis in 1904, when American competitors, with the advantage of contesting on their own soil, swept the field.

Stockton Net Team Trounces Buena Vista Men

STOCKTON, April 9.—Stockton Tennis club's inter-club net team yesterday won from the Buena Vista aggregation, 7 matches to 2, in a series which, it is believed, will virtually decide third place in the final standings.

Dr. Dewey R. Powell, San Joaquin valley champion, lost yesterday for the first time since the league was commenced, Frank Ragan defeating him, 2-6, 6-3, 11-9.

This was the feature match, though others were also hard fought and frequently went to deuce.

The summary:

Ragan (B. V.) beat Powell, 2-6, 6-3, 11-9.

Potter (S.) beat Graham, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1.

Horne (S.) beat McNery, 7-5, 5-6, 6-3.

Landman (S. V.) beat Lequint, 12-11, 6-3.

Johnson (S.) beat Robbom, 7-5, 6-0.

McKee beat Brady, 6-3, 6-3.

Powell and Potter (S.) beat Ragan and Graham, 6-3, 6-4.

Horne and Campbell (S.) beat McNery and Landman, 8-6, 4-6, 6-3.

Johnson and Robbom (S.) beat McKee and Brady, 6-3, 6-2.

Montgomery Accepts Berth at So. Dakota

SIOUX CITY, Ia., April 9.—Vincent Montgomery, who recently resigned as athletic coach at Yankton college, has accepted a position as basketball and track coach at the 1932 Olympic games about a year ago when it appeared that might result in his award because of difficulty in obtaining needed governmental appropriations.

Shortly afterward, however, France smoothed out its difficulties and the American team sought the games for 1932. The international committee, meeting last June, decided to accept, instead, the bid of Amsterdam, Holland, explaining that a majority of nations felt economic conditions would make it impossible for European competitors to finance an invasion of America.

In the doubles Furd and Brandt won with a count of 1185, Baso and Francis taking second with 1176.

All scores for the four-day play are low in comparison with those turned in in other Bowler tournaments. Benkosky's score of 600 was the only one in that class while no team reached the 1300 mark in doubles and only two 2500 in the five-man event. The scores:

Listen, World

MARY has sent me a tired little note, written while the baby cried and the rhubarb boiled over, in which she tells me how she hates housework. "I did love beauty so," cries Mary. "Beautiful textures and colors and craftsmanship. And this is all so hideous!"

It is a great sight to see Giuseppe make a salad. First, there is the kitchen, with the light shining through the window high in the wall, warm and thick like a golden oil. Such a kitchen, brown in the shadows as a trout pool, but full of living flashes of color—the copper of the great polished kettles, the thick dishes with their striping of green and magenta, the blue flame of clean steel, the soft all-vorings of tin, and over it all, spreading in the steam from the kettles, clinging in the shadows of the rafters, the odor of herbs—parsa and rombo, rosemary as you call it, bay, thyme. And there in the midst, Giuseppe—big, fat, brown Giuseppe, with the little, quick fingers that never are still. How he laughs, how his blue-black eyebrows meet over his eagle nose as he marshals the vegetables about the bowl. First, lettuce, crackling cold, green as a slice from the underside of a clapping wave. No feeble leaf or two, but the whole crinkled heart, sliced water thin, goes first into the vast yellow bowl. Next spinach, boiled and drained, dark green and soft as moss. A symphony in green is promised to be, for next comes string beans cut in meaty bits, their greenness blending to the gold of mellowed ivory. Then celery in pearly slices, sweet and crunchy as November nuts. Then tiny leeks and onions, finer thin, but point as young sticks of dynamite. In case they're not, there is garlic—just a hint, for garlic is garlic.

Giuseppe pauses now and mixes this all well with salt and pepper, vinegar as fruit as champagne, and clear, green olive oil. It stands an hour, until each chilly part is flavored with the essence of the whole. Now on the platter it is spread out with a flourish. Giuseppe starts the garnishing. No green tones now. The rosy orange of sliced carrots in a row—hold cubes of pickled beets, magenta hued—small radishes, their scales curled back from hearts of pearl. Vermillion strands of pimentons in a net across the whole, caught down by curled anchovies, black and fat to give a salty tang. And last of all, a border of dark olives, round about. The salad is done a masterpiece as intricate in hue as some old precious piece of cloisonne.

And Mary writes: "I did love beauty so. And this is all so hideous!" (Copyright, 1922)

My Marriage Problems

THE REASON KATHIE NEARLY RUINED LILLIAN'S CAREER

Lillian smiled approvingly at the stage. Can you do that and make your voice tremble as if you were excited and worried?

"Katie!" Her voice was serious, that is, she had a stern, her eyes twinkling. "You don't want to tell me the truth in your answers, but I want you to remember this. You do not need to tell me who Joe really is, or what hold he has on you. I don't care two pence about that—but I do want to know this: You did know him years ago, didn't you?"

Katie flushed, then an agonized shiver twisted her hands together in her lap, then answered slowly: "Yes, I know him."

"Good. Now we all know you were afraid of him, so we shall blame you. If you pretend to be willing to help him, I'll tell her eyes upon Katie's were fairly hypnotized. "If you should tell some one you were worried about Joe, and Joe should hear it, would he think you were lying or telling the truth?"

Again the twisting of the fingers, the disheveled look at me. Then a gleam in her eyes which meant that something amusing had come into her mind.

"Let's have any sense, he ought to know I hate him, afraid of him for my devil," she said. "But I think he likes all rest of men—he thinks no woman could hate him. I think he'd tell me that."

A STORY BY MISS MOUSE.

I wish to tell you that my house is under the floor of the garage in the old wooden house. I live with Mr. Mouse and my children in a snug corner behind a big barn. I have a good many brothers and sisters and cousins who live with me. We do not stay under the floor among the dust, boards and beams of the house.

No, indeed. Every night when the house is still we travel about. When the weather is bad the boys and girls come into the garage to play. They bring bread, butter and crumbs for us to pick up. We have boys and girls because they are always eating and leaving crumbs.

Chapter 2

Sometimes we find our way into the house besides the garage for the house is quite old and it is full of wide cracks. Last spring I got into the house where Madam keeps the food. I fared like a queen for a whole month, and kept Mr. Mouse and the children supplied with the bits of cheese I found, and frosted cake, and mince pie.

THE WONDERFUL DREAM.

Once upon a time there was a girl by the name of Helen. One dark, spooky night she had a wonderful dream.

She dreamed that she was the beautiful princess Helen, and that her father was the King of Spain. One night as she was sleeping two pirates came into her room and carried her away to the pirates' castle. The pirates took her in a dark dungeon without food or water. She stayed in this dark dungeon for three or four days. She was nearly starved to death. While at her father's castle her father offered a large sum of money to the one who rescued her and could have her to be his wife. A handsome prince heard of it and went to rescue her.

He had a battle with the pirates and killed all the pirates and brought the beautiful princess back to her father and married her and became King of Spain.

Just when the dream ended her mother called her and said it was time to wake up and go to school. Helen was glad it was a dream because she had a wonderful time.

Best, and this ends my story.

MISAO SASAKI.

It's the same old story. "I love him but he doesn't look good to the folks at home."

Dear Jerry:

I am coming to you with my troubles, because I know you will understand.

I am in love with a young man and he tells me he loves me. I feel that he does.

He has asked me to marry him and believe me, Jerry, I want to; but my folks don't approve. They don't absolutely refuse, but they just don't like it.

In the first place, they think me too young. I will be 19 in a couple of months. Being 16, I don't think 19 too young, do you?

In the second place, Jerry, he gambles and drinks a little and that's the worst of it. It worries me, but I can't help but overlook his faults and they say that is true love.

He has been used to doing this, and can't see any wrong in it. He isn't a drunkard or anything like that. Just like most of the boys I guess. He doesn't mind for large stakes, now. My folks say he will have a job. He is a steady worker and makes the average salary.

It hurts me, Jerry. I couldn't stand it if we would marry and not be happy on that account.

Maybe it is my fault and I expect too much of him. He comes from a good, refined family, and I don't feel that he belongs in this other class. He is really good and I love him and know he does me. Likewise, I couldn't stand to give him up.

I wish you would talk to me and tell me what is best.

Thanks awfully, Jerry.

MARY.

I can't possibly advise you, Mary, for your letter gives me no knowledge of the boy. Some of the men I have known have had wine with their meals and a game or two of stud poker every Saturday night. And some of the worst of them have been teachers and ardent church members. You never can tell.

No, I don't think nineteen too young to marry, but that depends on the person. Some girls are well balanced women at thirteen, and others are about as useful as a stranded jelly fish. But at any rate, he's a nice boy and a wish for your good luck.

When it comes to preaching, I always "let the kids do it" if possible. No one can adjust a youngster's warped viewpoint like another youngster. "Berkeley" wrote us a very self-righteous letter about the dreadful little girls who used rouge and were therefore disqualified for all the Best Pro-

Berkeley meant well, but she was getting her data mixed. Here comes "Volcano" to put her right. Dear Jerry:

Well, pal, I sure agree with your answer to Berkeley.

I am young, too, and never smoke, paint or use powder, but I

Valet—Yes, m'anc, he's at home. Oh, I want you to see him. He has been very late just now. He hung his boots on the hat rack, and at the present moment is engaged in drinking his bath.

"You've seen them feed camels to the elephants in the zoo, haven't you?" "Why do you do that?" "Oh, just to keep the mouths out of their trunks."

Teddy—You haven't any whiskers—very much hair. Sister's Hero—Well, what of it? Teddy—Oh, I was only wondering how pa was going to manage it. Sister's Hero—Manage what? Teddy—He said he was going to mop the floor with you.

Colleen—When I think of you, line, I'll go out with either Cholly or Jerry this afternoon. Which do you think will match this dress? Madeline—Cholly, because he is the thinnest.

Every bootlegger appears to be a little bit of a fat man.

The Heart Specialist

I had—
A most peculiar dream—
The other night—
And as dreams are the secret yearning—
Of wishes unfulfilled—
I wonder if mine will come true—
But whether it comes true—or nay—
I was important for a day—
At least 'twould seem—while in my dream—
I thought I was a learned man—
And had a very thorough plan—
To aid those who came to my door—
Both rich and poor—
For traced in letters on a sign—
I saw this homely name of mine—
And underneath—"Heart Specialist"—
And as I waited—conning o'er—
This world of sin—
A youth came knocking at my door—
I asked him in—
And noted that his face was sad—
With brimming eyes—
Like one who tightens back bitter tears—
But his deep sighs—
Told me his heart was troubled—
So as I cured the human heart—
I asked his symptoms to impart—
He told me that a maiden rare—
Had given him a baby stare—
When he had sought her heart and hand—
Now, future years seemed bleak and drear—
Without the sweet face of his dear—
Each hour before him—
I listened all his story through—
And then told him just what to do—
"Go out and gaze in other eyes—
And learn love's message ever lies—
Where brighter eyes beckon—
And ere another month rolls by—
Some other maid will hear you sigh—"
A woman came—not young nor old—
She brought to me a heart of gold—
But said her husband spurned it—
I told her plain no plan of mine—
Could her worth in his heart enshrine—
Until dull brain discerned it—
But if she's send him up to me—
I'd treat his heart—teach him to see—
A woman bent with many years—
Came stooping in—and scalding tears—
Burnt pathways down her furrowed face—
Could I erase?
She said her children all had flown—
Left her alone—
No baby hands now smoothed her head—
No little ones to tuck in bed—
Some plan could I impart—
I shook my head—no human hand—
Can mend a broken heart.

UNCLE WIGGLY AND THE HIGH WATER

"Rain, rain, go away! Come again some other day!"

"That is what the animal boys and girls in Woodland, near Uncle Wiggly's hollow stump bungalow, sang over and over again."

"Rain, rain, go away! Don't come back any other day!"

Sometimes they changed the song a little bit and sang it that way. For it had rained very hard in Woodland—it had rained hard and long, and the animal boys and girls were tired of it. Down pelted the big drops. Oh, how weary the little animal folk were of the rain!

"Do you think it will ever stop?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, as she sat in the hollow stump bungalow and pressed her nose quite flat against the window.

"Well," slowly answered Uncle Wiggly. "It always has stopped."

"That doesn't say it's going to stop now!" went on Nurse Jane. "I never saw so much rain in all my life! We'll have high water if it keeps on! I think I hear it running in the cellar now."

"I'll take a look," offered Uncle Wiggly. He went down the cellar

"Here! I want you!" howled the fox.

stairs, clumpity—clump—clump. "Yes," he said, when he came up again, "there's water in the cellar. But it will do us no harm, for we have eaten most of our winter carrots and cabbage, and now that it is spring we can eat things that grow out of doors. Let the high water come. I say. Soon it will be summer! Tra, la, la!" and Uncle Wiggly twinkled his pink nose and sang a song.

"It is all very well to be jolly and gay," said Nurse Jane, "but if the rain makes a flood, and the water gets so high that your hollow stump bungalow is like an island, how are you going to get out?"

"Oh, there will be time enough to worry about that when it comes," chuckled Uncle Wiggly.

But, surely enough, the high water came sooner than was expected. All the remainder of the day and all night it rained, and in the morning, when Nurse Jane looked from the window, she saw water all around the bungalow.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggly!" cried the muskrat lady, "we're a regular island surrounded by water! What are we going to do? How are you going to go to the store, or go off adventuring? Tra, la, la!" and the muskrats can swim, you can't! What are you going to do?"

"Well," said Uncle Wiggly slowly, "I don't just know as yet. I don't need to go out to the store, for we have enough to eat. And as for adventures, why, they will keep until tomorrow, when the high water may go down and get low."

But it did not. The flood remained high and Uncle Wiggly could not get out of his bungalow because water was still all around it. Nurse Jane could have gotten out by swimming if she had wished, but she would not leave the bunny gentleman.

"Perhaps it isn't so deep but what I can wade," said Uncle Wiggly. He tried it, but as soon as he stepped one leg off the front stoop he almost fell in over his head.

"It is too deep for wading," he said.

"And you must go out today," spoke Nurse Jane. "We shall need some things from the store. Oh! but how can you go out in the high water, Uncle Wiggly?"

The bunny gentleman thought for a moment. Then he twinkled his pink nose and he said:

"Ah! I have just thought of a happy invention, the present according the other day gives me an idea."

"Then you had better do something quickly!" cried Nurse Jane. "For here comes the Fuzzy Fox after you on a raft!" And, sure enough, the bad Fox was coming to the bungalow, roaring along on a raft boat he had made. "How can you get away when you can't swim?" squeaked Nurse Jane. "I never desert you, Wiggly, but I can't swim for both of us."

"There is no need," said Uncle Wiggly, as he looked from the window and saw the Fox coming nearer. "I'll make myself a pair of stilts as I saw the piggie boys do the other day. On tall wooden stilts I can wade through the high water."

Outside on the back stoop were some clothes line poles. Uncle Wiggly took two of these, fastened on pieces for his paws and soon out of the bungalow he walked on the stilts, away up above the high water. Nurse Jane swam along beside him.

"Here! I want you!" howled the Fox, poing his raft up to the bungalow. "I thought sure I'd catch you in the high water!"

"Well, I fooled you!" laughed Uncle Wiggly, and on his stilts he waded safely to high ground, where the Fox couldn't get him. And the bunny and Nurse Jane came back to the bungalow.

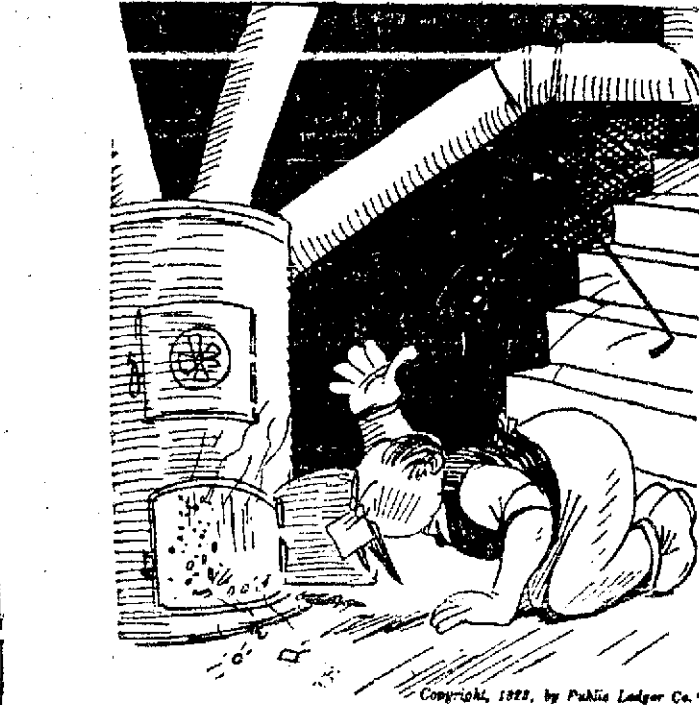

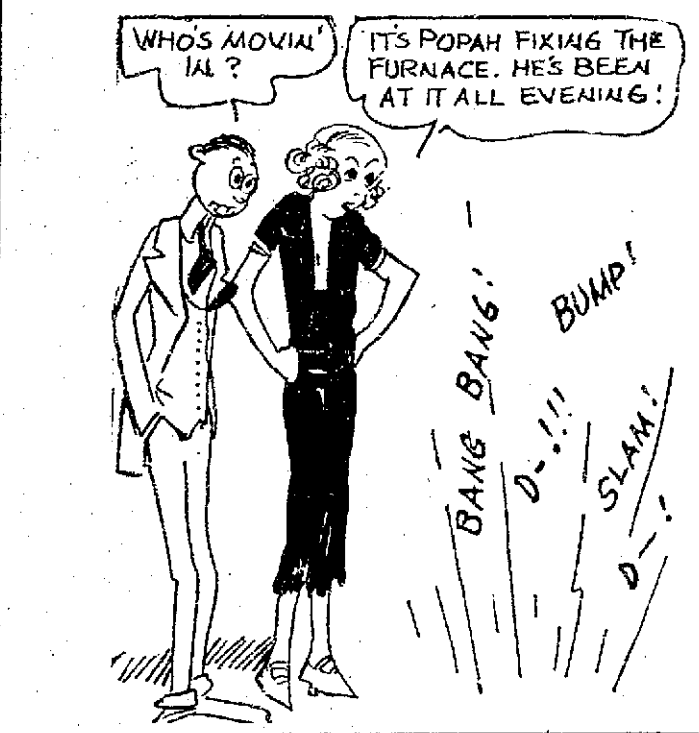

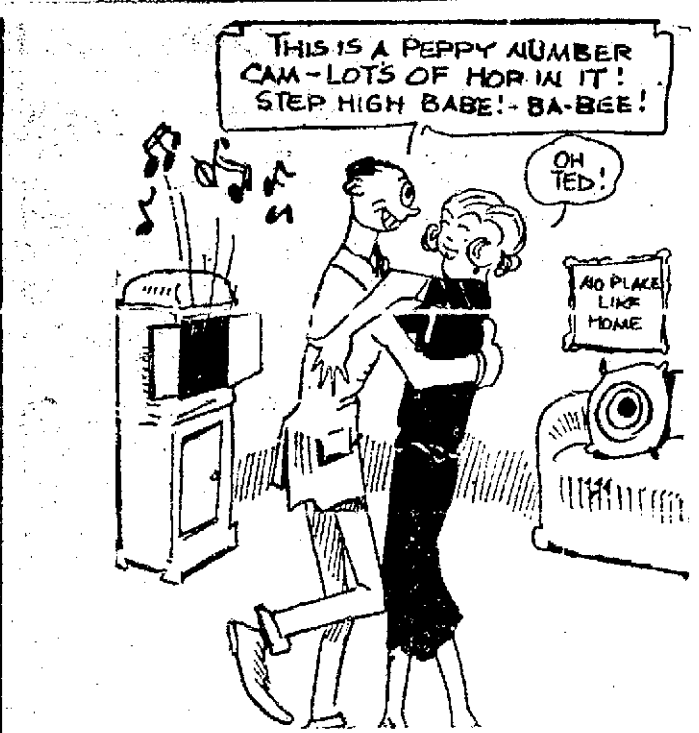

And if the rain cake doesn't try to turn into a chocolate pie and fall down stairs backward while doing it. Till then you next about Uncle Wiggly and Tippy Tumble.

NO ENGINEERING DIFFICULTIES IN TUBE EXPECTED

County Surveyor Geo. Posey Ascribes the Ventilation Problem Solved.

No difficult engineering problems stand in the way of the construction of a tube under the Oakland estuary, in the opinion of Geo. Posey, county surveyor, who told today how the matter of ventilation has been satisfactorily solved in this and similar projects throughout the country.

It has been claimed that a tube through which automobile traffic passes presents new and serious difficulties in the way of ventilation, owing to the deadly carbon monoxide gas from the exhausts. In solving the question of ventilation, Posey said he consulted with Clifford M. Holland, chief engineer of New York City, in charge of constructing the ten thousand foot tunnel under the Hudson between New York and Jersey City. Holland, it is said, has solved the ventilation problem in that tunnel, which is twice as long as the proposed Oakland tube. Holland has developed nearly five years of study of that particular feature in this country and in Europe. Holland even went into an abandoned mine, where he reproduced the ventilation conditions which would be found in the Hudson river tube. His findings have been closely studied and Posey talked with him personally when he was here a year ago.

Miners, Scientists Join On Problems

PITTSBURGH, April 8.—The coal dust and moist air quickly increase the hazards of spontaneous combustion, according to scientists of the Carnegie Institute of Technology and the Pittsburgh station of the United States Bureau of Mines, who have been carrying on investigations here with an advisory board of coal operators and mining engineers.

Another conclusion set forth is that mixing freshly mined coal with old coal does not develop any more heat than that derived from coal piled separately.

A third conclusion is that most of the alloys available for use in coal mine equipment are corroded extensively by the acid waters in mines. Brasses containing zinc corroded rapidly, while bronzes containing tin corrode more slowly.

Cracked and pitted metal alloys have about the same resisting power to the acids as the bronzes.

These reports mark the first milestone in the serious efforts of the coal mining industry to stabilize mining in cooperation with an educational institution.

Preparations Made For Chico Roundup

CHICO, April 9.—The wide-brimmed sombrero has again made its appearance on the streets of Chico as the official garb of residents who have been carrying on preparations for the Northern California Roundup.

The big open air spectacle will be held this year at the Bennett and Bell ranch north of Chico, April 20, 21 and 22, and according to the plans of the association will be a better show than last year, for it will have all of last year's features and a few additional ones as well crowded into three days instead of a week.

Competition for the bucking bronzo prizes will be keener than ever, this year, it is declared, for a string of outlaws has been obtained that will make the hardest buckaroo take notice.

Women Marooned at Convention by Rain

WOODLAND, April 8.—A series of small cloudbursts, impairing the highway between Woodland, Sacramento and Grass Valley, some of the delegates to the District Federation of Women's Clubs just held at Grass Valley, were marooned in their cars and unable to return to their respective valley homes. Among the women marooned at Grass Valley was Mrs. G. H. Hecke, wife of the state superintendent of agriculture, who lives in Woodland.

The Heckes, familiarly known as "Yolanda."

LIQUOR SELLER FINED.
SONORA, April 7.—Lawrence Schult was fined $300 for selling liquor and $200 for having it in his possession after pleading guilty before City Recorder C. N. George. He was also given a suspended sentence. A raid on his premises disclosed a large quantity of wine and considerable packers' brandy.

Political Notes

L. R. Macdon, Independent Candidate for Commissioner No. 2, Saturday evening last addressed members of the Tax Reduction League of Oakland, which organization had endorsed his candidacy. Among other things, he said:

"Government has been commercialized but this has not served to make it business-like. Unreasonably high taxes in a community do not mean indifference of the citizens so much as it means lack of organized action."

Oakland must reorganize its business methods and cut out unnecessary expenses in government or its tax rate will be an unreasonable figure and it will be deprived of many public improvements which it needs. If elected, it shall be a continual effort to seek a solution of our local tax problems and bring down not only the tax rate but also the taxes."

Mother, Rebuked For Rump With Babies, Ends Life

SANTA ANA, April 8.—"You can't follow me where I am going," cried Mrs. Margaret D. Moon, 22, and the mother of two children, as she stood flustered with anger before her father, Samuel Woodbridge, former Colorado Superior court judge, on the lawn of his home here today and then jumped poison.

"I've been saving that for some time," she declared, and then hurled the deadly poison container at her father, Judge Woodbridge said.

Efforts were made to save her life, but the young woman died within an hour. Mrs. Moon, in her gymnasium suit, had been rump with her father and the other 18 months, in the orange grove of her father's place, where she lived since the disappearance of her husband, George Moon, in 1912.

Judge Woodbridge said he had reproved his daughter about her conduct as being unbecoming to a married woman.

LIVERMORE WILL HOLD RODEO ON FOURTH OF JULY

LIVERMORE, April 9.—The annual Livermore rodeo will this year be a stupendous three-in-one show, according to an announcement made today by Thomas W. Norris, president of the Livermore Stockmen's Rodeo Association.

It has been customary in the past to make the rodeo a three-day celebration but, in view of the fact that July 4 comes in the middle of the week, this year, the directors have decided to combine the usual three-day show and put on one big celebration on July 4.

Residents of Livermore will blossom out in the old Spanish costumes which made the town a picturesque spot during the celebration last year. The rodeo will feature the beautiful serenita walk, the brightly colored and yellow of the early Spanish days while the men of the town are resplendent in their gorgeous shirts, huge sombreros and heavily beaded trousers with the tinkling bells. This method of advertising proved very successful last year as thousands of automobilists passing through the town were struck by the strange beauty of the old Spanish costumes. Many of the costumes are almost a century old and have been passed down from generation to generation.

The directors of the rodeo have expressed their intention of giving Livermore a better rodeo than ever. This year, it is a well known fact that the cowboys from the Livermore hills are as good horsemen as any in the world and they have never failed to give their best for every Livermore rodeo. These boys live on the range and differing from the professional showmen, who ride the wild ones only in the rodeos, they risk their lives every day following their cowboy work. The local riders featured every year in the past and Secretary M. T. Callaghan of the rodeo association is planning to send personal letters to every cowboy in the valley urging him to enter the rodeo.

H. T. Callaghan, ranch owner and chairman of the valley, has been appointed arena judge. Halley has the reputation of being the best man in California for that position. He earned that reputation in the manner in which he keeps the events moving along. There is never a slow minute in a Livermore rodeo. There is no wait between events, each contest being ready to start the instant another is finished.

M. J. "Chick" Brady will be in charge of the gates. T. E. Brady will supervise the ushers, and L. E. Wright will have charge of policing the crowds. John McChinney, founder of the Livermore Rodeo Association, will be the grand marshal of the parade.

MARTINEZ, April 9.—Pioneer families of Contra Costa and Napa counties will be united here Saturday evening with the marriage of Miss Winifred Stanley Timmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Timmer, of Martinez, and James Goodman Noyes, Napa county lumberman.

The ceremony will be performed by Rev. W. H. Wiley of Napa, and will be witnessed by some seventy-five relatives. The couple will make an extended honeymoon trip and will not establish their home in Napa valley until June 1. Their destination is not disclosed.

Miss Timmer was educated at Martinez and at the University of California and is popular in Contra Costa society circles. She was a member of the Anne Morgan Relief unit, spending a year in France in rehabilitation work. Her father is a Contra Costa attorney and banker.

CLASH REOPENED ON COUNTY FUND APPORTIONMENT

Supervisors, Therefore, Ask for Written Reports from Auditor, Treasurer.

The old row between the offices of the county auditor and the county treasurer over the apportionment of county funds was reopened today with a formal hearing before the Board of Supervisors. The hearing resulted in the board requesting written reports on the points of contention from County Auditor F. F. Garrison, County Treasurer Fred W. Foss and Auditor John F. Mullins, supervisor in charge of the funds.

The issue was brought before the board by Parker, who declared that the treasurer had failed in doing part of his work connected with the apportionment. This was denied by Treasurer Foss and his son, William Foss, chief deputy. The request for written reports was made on motion of Supervisor John F. Mullins. Previously, Supervisor Staats had declared the issue was a legal one and suggested that the district attorney's office give a legal ruling.

The issue originally came up about the first of the year and caused the apportionment to be held up for over a month. Treasurer Foss finally consented to make the apportionment, but the board opinion from the district attorney, but did not concede the point.

NOBILITY DIES OUT IN SWEDEN

STOCKHOLM, April 9.—Knight-hood is still in flower in Sweden, though the petals are falling one by one. This sentiment is suggested by the fact that the assembly nobles, which comes once every three years, has just been held in the historic Hall of Knights, attended by nobles of all counties and hundreds of thousands of years old.

The Chamber of Nobles as such has not been active in Swedish government since 1856, and scarcely any titles have been created since that time. Swedish nobles are permitted to sell flowers on the streets of San Francisco, from the Compensation Department of the army stating that his claim for compensation could be heard December 8, 1922, in San Francisco, and also a certificate of proficiency of work while in the quartermaster corps at Camp Lewis. He was 26 years old.

Fred Shaffer, of the Yolo Board of Trade, G. H. Hecke and Thomas Traversett, assistant dean of the Davis farm, are collaborating to make the visit of the secretary of agriculture a memorable one to the community and the distinguished visitor.

The ex-service men are excluded over the matter and the board of trustees will wait on the board in an effort to have the resolution rescinded. If all entertainment requests were granted, they might interfere with school.

Murphy, nine years old, is dead, his brother Robert, six, and a sister, five, are not expected to live, and three other children of the family are seriously burned as a result of an explosion of a keg of blasting powder on the Murphy farm 12 miles east of Walsburg. One of the youngsters threw a lighted match into the powder. The explosion broke windows in farmhouses within several miles of the Murphy place.

The victims were Harold and Juanita Williamson, four years old, twins, children of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Williamson; Geneva Smith, three; and Melva Ring, two, daughters of Mrs. Nettie Woods, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Williamson.

Woodrow Williamson, 7, brother of two of the victims, escaped from the burning structure through a window. He said another boy, who was playing hide and seek with them had lighted a match inside the shed and that the hay caught fire.

The children were locked in the house when the mother went to a dance she is said to have told officers.

LETTERS DENOTE SUICIDE TO HAVE BEEN INTENTION

LODI, April 9.—A letter on the body of Frank C. O'Connor hints that his death by falling between the cars of a northbound train, two miles north of Lodi, on the Western Pacific railway, might have been intentional. This letter, which appeared to have been written recently, was in pencil on a scrap of paper, and read as follows:

"Dear Nora: To the only little girl I ever loved, and will ever love. You don't seem to want me anymore. Now I am sick and worn down in health, but I will never cross your path again. Now don't look for me, as when you get this, I will be a long way from you. I wish you all the happiness in the world. I don't care what happens to me. I am too sick to write any more. Good-bye." When the signature had been read, it was buried and could not be read, but below these followed: "You said for me to go; I am gone."

O'Connor was a private in the quartermaster corps of the army at Camp Lewis. He enlisted in 1918, and was discharged from Camp Lewis on March 7, 1919. On his body were found letters from his mother, which gave him permission to sell flowers on the streets of San Francisco, from the Compensation Department of the army stating that his claim for compensation could be heard December 8, 1922, in San Francisco, and also a certificate of proficiency of work while in the quartermaster corps at Camp Lewis. He was 26 years old.

Membership will be open to "any person of good moral character and not otherwise objectionable, residing in the city, and owning real estate in the territory."

No arrangements were made by the band for the annual concert season.

INJURED AIRMAN HOLDS NON-STOP FLIGHT RECORD

SANTA ROSA, April 9.—Gordon K. McKenzie, 22, one of two army aviators recovering here today from serious injuries received when their plane went into a nose dive two miles south of Santa Rosa Saturday afternoon, recently showed a non-stop flight record from Rockwell field, San Diego, to Crissy field, San Francisco, in four and three-quarters hours. This is said to be the record to date.

McKenzie, although at a young man, has been an aviator for ten years. He joined the Canadian flying forces early in the world war and fought with them until the United States entered the conflict, and then he enlisted in the American aerial forces. He had many encounters across the German lines, but was injured only once. That was when a piece of shrapnel struck the bottom of his plane and cut two of his toes off. Despite this accident he was able to swing back to the allied lines and bring his ship down in safety.

McKenzie showed indomitable courage when taken to a local hospital following the accident. Although the worse injured of the two, he told Dr. J. W. Jesse: "Don't bother about me, doc; look after the boy."

The second injured man is Robert Lauchus, 20, on furlough from Crissy field. His mother, living on a farm south of Santa Rosa, just called to him and said he flew over the house a minute before 11 o'clock, and the accident happened in her full view.

The commander of Crissy field flew here yesterday on an airplane to visit the injured aviators and to investigate the cause of the accident. It is believed locally that the crash may have been caused by a bad pickup near the hills just south of this city, as two other accidents have occurred within a mile of where Saturday's accident happened. At the time of the accident, the plane was just taking off from the hills just when their plane came down in the fair grounds, just a short distance from the scene of Saturday's crash. In the second account, C. E. Hendrick, a newspaper reporter, and Lester Britton were injured when the plane in which they were passengers fell, just a few rods distant from where McKenzie and Lauchus fell.

More Showers Are Forecast for Bay

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—A storm of the diminutive order overlying the Canadian Northwest is likely to cause showers in the bay region, the Sacramento and Santa Clara valleys, and the fringes of coastal waters here and British Columbia. There is some question as to whether the rain will extend far south, but Forecaster E. A. Bealla believes the percentage is in favor of some moisture. He does not believe, however, that it will reach the San Joaquin valley or Southern California. No precipitation of any consequence occurred in the entire United States in the last 24 hours, except locally on the Atlantic coast.

Berry Growers Plan Mountain View Meet

MOUNTAIN VIEW, April 9.—A special meeting of the Central California Berry Growers' association will be held tonight at 8 p.m. in the packing sheds of the pre-cooling plant here. All berry growers, whether association members or not, are invited.

E. R. Haack, president of the association, will be present and will outline the present prospect for the berry market for this year, together with a review of general conditions in the berry industry.

Posse Scours Hills For Fugitive Convict

POLSON, April 9.—(United Press.)—Ten guards and deputy sheriffs are scouring the hills back of Polson prison for Joe Moles, life prisoner. Moles escaped Saturday afternoon from the prison farm where he was a trustee.

A sheep herder reported to the prison last night that he saw a convict along the American river a few miles north. Moles, who has been in prison since 1902, was in the famous prison break when the guard was killed.

Fight Over Murphy Estate Continued

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—A continuance of two weeks was granted by Superior Judge Deasy today, when the matter of the estate of the late Attorney Frank J. Murphy was argued.

Murphy bequeathed only a dollar to his widow, Mrs. Nonie Murphy of 673 Oak street, leaving the bulk of his $700,000 estate to a friend, Miss Helen Helm.

A settlement of the matter without a contest is said to be likely.

MURDER BATTLE
NURSE'S BATTLE AGAINST DOPE
BARED IN NOTESWoman in Court on Charge of Forging Prescription for Narcotics.

A struggle against the narcotic habit, which she could not continue because of the lack of energy, and her method of obtaining narcotics in the face of difficulties, is told in a series of memoranda written by Mrs. Jean Bassett, also known as Lydia Atwood, a nurse at the Temple Hospital, known also as the Berkeley Emergency Hospital, who appeared today before Judge William J. Hennessy on a charge of violating the state poison law. Mrs. Bassett did not plead and her case was continued for three days. Several new memoranda were found today by D. R. Dunbar, inspector for the State Board of Pharmacy.

In her memoranda, written on the backs of envelopes and hidden among her personal effects, Mrs. Bassett wrote the following, according to Dunbar:

"I will keep a diary for several days and see how things stand. I am not afraid of anything. I'm sure I'll win out, for I'm God's own child."

On another envelope was written: "I know just what I can do. I am weak and lack will power and backbone, but with my father's help I can win." Following this was a record of poison she had taken on April 7.

ARRESTED AT STORE. Mrs. Bassett was arrested at a local drug store Saturday evening, where she is alleged to have attempted to pass a forged prescription for narcotics. She gave her name as Lydia Atwood and was booked at the police station. She arranged by telephone for a nurse to take her place at the Temple Hospital, where she was to have come on duty at 8 o'clock.

According to Dunbar, Mrs. Bassett said she learned to use dope through administering narcotics to patients under her care. She took the cure and succeeded in fighting off the habit until eight months ago, when she again began to use drugs.

On another memoranda Mrs. Bassett watched for the opening dates of drug stores and made the acquaintance of the clerks. Dunbar declares she passed forged prescriptions at many of the East-bay drug stores, as well as in San Francisco and Los Angeles, where she was employed as a nurse.

NOTE ON STAFF'S PORTRAIT. Other notes credited to Mrs. Bassett are as follows:

"I will never stop until I am worthy to be the true mate of a man like you." This was written on the back of a photograph of William Tennant in a characteristic pose.

The following appeared on the back of Norma Talmage's photograph:

"In a picture of yours you helped someone win a fight against themselves. When I look at your sweet face it will give me courage, I am sure."

On the bottom of a photograph of Mary Pickford she wrote: "Your face is an inspiration and I love all your pictures and you. No matter what anyone says, I think you are a dear, sweet, true womanly woman. Your pictures inspire me to be better and truer."

On a flyleaf of a Bible, she penned the following: "March 4, 1933. Be patient."

DINNER DATE MEANS PROMOTION AHEAD

"Oh, Jim, we are invited up to the Burns' for dinner a week from Tuesday. Isn't that exciting? I just know they are considering you for that coveted promotion and want a chance to look both of us over."

"Holy smoke, Connie, I guess you're right. I thought the boss was noticing my work a little more than usual. That's great. We'll have to impress them with the fact that we're darn nice folks."

"I hope that won't be too difficult. But, my dear, what will we wear?"

"Just like a woman. I suppose you'll have to have a swell new dress, and they'll think we're living too high."

all. But I have nothing decent at all, and I must get a simple little silk dress."

"That's all right. We can manage it, I guess. I suppose you'd say you were badly dressed and uncomfortable, and that would spoil the whole evening, if you had to wear something old."

"You surely are right. I'm a lot nicer person if I know I'm properly dressed for the affair at hand, and, anyway, dear, I'll buy it at Cherry's, 615 12th street, where we won't have to pay all the money at once. We'll open an account and pay so much each month."

Cherry's store for men is at 528 11th street.—Advertisement.

The porch, too, must brave the elements and yet keep spick and span to "welcome the coming, speed the parting guest."
